ALBANY LIONS TO SEND LUCILLE RUBIO EAST FOR NEW GUIDE DOG

Like all other Lions Clubs throughout the nation, the Albany Lions specialize in aid to the blind. When the local group heard of Lucille Rubio's loss of her seeing-eye dog "Maggie" they went into action and have arranged for the young lady to fly east to the Morristown, N.J., Seeing Eye Center.

Miss Rubio will leave Feb. 22 and stay at Morristown for four to six weeks. During that time she will meet her new guide dog and work with it under the supervision of experienced trainers at the center. All her expenses on the trip and at the center will be paid for by funds donated by the Albany Lions Club.

For eight years "Maggie" led Lucille through her daily routine and made it possible for her to enjoy many activities she would otherwise not have known. But faithful old Maggie went deaf and had to be destroyed. When a guide dog loses any of its keen, highly trained senses it can no longer safely lead its owner. Deprived of the constant companionship of the person the dog has grown to love the animal grieves until the only humane thing to do is destroy it.

During the war the young blind woman worked for the Simmons Mattress Company in San Francisco. Every work day for two and one-half years she commuted from her home at 832 Washington St. to the city. Led by Maggie she crossed the busy intersection of Fifth and Market and arrived safely at her job. Working side by side with sighted persons on a punch press, Lucille made a fine record of efficiency without injury and contributed her share to the war effort.

Hi-Y Clubs Will Go To State Capitol For Training Meet

More than 30 Hi-Y boys and girls of the Albany Y.M.C.A. Hi-Y clubs will attend the officers training conference at Sacramento Saturday, Feb. 16, according to Elmer F. Coble, executive secretary of the "Y." Governor Earl Warren will give the keynote address on the responsibility of leadership. The Albany group will go by special bus, leaving the Y at 7 a.m. and returning about 7 p.m.

Those making the trip are Roy Wilson, Don Jensen, Joe Estergarrd, J. Fred Bolton, Dick Matta, Bob Reid, Jack Darrah, Don Davie, Irene Klein, Phyllis Brothers, Barbara Flavin, Mae DePoli, Joyce Burgess, Mildred Borba, Helene Richford, Shirley Nicholette, Eleanor Bakhosh, Joyce Berry, Beverly Young, Clara Cramer, Barbara Norris, Beverly Evans, Janet Norton, Fay Lundquist, Shirley Johnson, Jackie Kerr, Joanne Parks, Donna Gray, Joyce Hanson, Marion Oversen, and Sherrin Andrews.

Counsellors going with the group are Miss Bertha Foster, Mrs. Arilee Pollard, and Elmer F. Coble.

School To Teach Parents How to Aid Children

Two Parent Education classes, one of which is being offered for the first time and one for the second time as part of the Evening High School program, will start on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 19.

The new Parent Education classes are to be conducted by curriculum coordinator William G. Woolworth each Wednesday afternoon from 1:15 to 3:15, Feb. 19 to April 16, and will explain and demonstrate methods used in teaching children in the primary grades. The purpose of the class is to interpret the educational program in the primary grades to parents so they will have a greater understanding of the schools and to assist parents in guiding their children and working with the schools. Since parents in the class will actually observe children in classroom work, certain restrictions have been placed upon enrollment. Members will be only parents with children in kindergarten or the first grade, at any of the three schools. The number will be limited to the first 25 parents enrolling. The course will consist of eight meetings to be held at the three elementary schools. The class period will be divided into three periods — a discussion and preparatory period where background information and explanations will be made. The second part will be actual observation of children in a classroom situation, and, after this observation, a question and interpretation period will follow.

A second Parent Education class "Arts and Crafts for Elementary School Mothers" is again being taught by Miss Erna Seeger at the Marin School each Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30.

This will be primarily a parent education class that will give such instruction in finger painting, weaving, clay and wood work as to enable pre-school, kindergarten and elementary school mothers to better guide their children through these educational activities.

In this class the mothers will become acquainted with the tools and materials used in construction; they will discuss the problems of construction as their children face them; and adequate attention will be devoted to creative thinking and construction in the class procedures. This course of 15 weeks will culminate in an exhibit of the Parent-Teacher Associations of Albany as did the last class which ended in January.

Ted Williams' Remodeled Shop To Open Saturday

The latest developments in modern living will be displayed by Ted Williams and Sid Weinzeimer in the newly remodeled and redecorated showrooms of the Albany Radio and Appliance Company, 1150 Solano Ave., at their reopening Saturday, Feb. 16.

A preview of things to come will be found in the showing of a television set which Williams, owner of the shop, had flown here from the east for Saturday. With television in the not too distant future for this area, residents of Albany will be able to see and price this type of set. Factory demonstrators will show many other electric home appliances.

Williams and Weinzeimer have been in the appliance business for 18 and 15 years respectively, and their wide experience well qualifies them to present their full line of fine merchandise. Williams has been doing business at the present address for 16 years. Prior to coming to Albany, he owned an appliance store in Berkeley.

Before coming to Williams' store, Weinzeimer was connected with the Moore Electric Company. Before the war he was with the V. G. Electric Company in Richmond. He is at present secretary of the Albany Exchange Club and is on the board of directors, Junior Chamber of Comemrce. He lives in this city at 1057 Stannage Ave.

Ted Williams has been prominent in Albany civic organizations for as long as he has been in business here. He is now president of the Chamber of Commerce and just recently finished a term as secretary of the Rotary Club. He was instrumental in starting the local Eastern Star order in 1941, was past president of the Albany Eagles and past commander of the Maccabees.

In addition to successful businessman and club member, Williams also plays the role of gentleman farmer and radio "ham" on his 6-acre ranch in the El Cerrito hills. A radio engineer, Ted owns and operates the Industrial X-Ray Laboratory in El Cerrito. During the war he did a great amount of x-ray work for the Richmond shipyards.

The excellent painting and redecorating job in his store was credited by Williams to the Woolworth Brothers, pioneer Albany painters.

Zucco, Vice Chancellor Commander and Mrs. Zucco; Mr. and Mrs. Gino Giuntoli, Mr. and Mrs. A. Toschi, Mr. and Mrs. Orlandi, Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Indelicato, Mr. and Mrs. F. Diridoni, Mr. and Mrs. P. Merchants Alert To Changes in Local Economy

Working closely with the Albany Chamber of Commerce, the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, through a campaign of continuing advertising is pushing their efforts to acquaint the citizens of this city with the many advantages of trading with local merchants.

According to a recent statement by Supervisor Thomas E. Caldecott, Alameda County may look forward to a bright future. His beliefs are based on the results of a careful study of economic conditions in this district as compared with those in other California counties.

Comparing prices in Albany with other local communities, the Board of Supervisors has found them to be fully in line with the trend of changing living conditions. Local merchants realize that people must now plan for greater economy than during the war years when wages were higher and employment easy.

A continued confidence in Albany merchants and cooperation with their efforts will bring to the people of this city fair prices and the best merchandise the market can offer.

Red Cross Campaign To Start March 1

The American Red Cross annual appeal for funds will start in Albany on March 1. With only 15 days to fulfill Albany's quota, the many volunteer workers are relying upon the splendid cooperation shown by the people of this city in past drives to put this drive over the top.

This year we can all give a little happiness to someone less fortunate than us. May we all "give gladly."

New School Woodshop

Following several months of reconstruction work, the Albany High School woodshop classes recently moved into the workshop provided by renovation of the high school building which was used as a child care center during the war. The well-lighted, fully equipped woodshop is now available to both day and evening classes.

Change of Name For Key System

Last February 4, the president of the Key System, W. Ralph Fitzgerald, announced that effective at once, the name of the company will be changed to the Key System Transit Lines. Along with the change of the name, the company insignia will be changed to a green shield and the words "Transit Lines" superimposed on a yellow bar near the top, extending beyond the shield on both sides.

The body of the new emblem will carry the company motto: "Safety - Courtesy - Service."

Edward Hanna, S. F., (celebrating 100th birthday) says "I've slept more than 50 of my 100 years in the outdoors. That's why I'm alive today. But I don't want to live another hundred."

THANK YOU

Editor, Albany Times,

On behalf of the Albany District Committee, Boy Scouts of America, I wish to thank you and the members of your staff for the excellent publicity which was given our Merit Badge Exposition.

It is gratifying, indeed, to know that we can rely upon such cooperation.

Needless to say, the Exposition was very successful and without a doubt your publicity contributed much in this regard.

Yours truly,

LLOYD HOGAN,
